SCHOOL NEWS,
FROM MR. MEDAUGH, PRINCIPAL:

St. Rose School website: www.stroselimaschool.org

What a great start to the year!
First off, on the very day of school, Dave Rupe, the Transportation Director for New Lexington, called to check to see if the morning routes went O.K. I also heard through the grapevine that Debbie Reed, the Crooksville Transportation Director, had called the Crooksville students on Wednesday to let them know what was going on. It was so nice to have that extra support.

We are now compiling volunteer hours. If you were an event leader, please submit those hours. It is not my intention to shortchange anyone, so if you worked helping move furniture or whatever, let us know. I am grateful for your volunteered time and I think you all should get credit for it.

I want to thank Tom Mooney again for helping with the computer setups and a thank you to Janet Burton for donating four walkie-talkies to the school.

In his poem "Life's Tragedy," Ohio poet Paul Laurence Dunbar wrote: "This, this indeed is to be accursed, For if we mortals love, or if we sing, We count our joys not by what we have, But by what kept us from that perfect thing." He makes this case that humans often overlook the good things we have and focus instead on what we don't have. While that is true, it seems to me that at St. Rose Catholic School we are pretty focused on what we have.

We are appreciative of the volunteers and gifts in time, talent and treasure that we continue to receive.
